

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides for a completion system that can be deployed in a single downhole trip, yet still achieve desired completion objectives.